ALFRED NELSON.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1885.

The President's Recent Letter.

The New York Tribune's Washington special, reviewing the correspondence recently published from Cincinnati between a repentant signer of an application for an office and the President, calls attention to the fact that the former's letter is dated July 24th and the President's reply August 1st. He then proceeds: A letter mailed at San Francisco or Portland, Or., on July 24th, should have reached the President August 1st. A letter from Cincinnati mailed July 24th would have reached him in thirty-six hours. The letters were first published August 4th, three days after the President's letter was written, and hence could not have been given out for publication by a person on the Pacific Coast. It has been declared at the White House since the publication that the correspondence is genuine. The recipient of the President's letter would undoubtedly be the last man in the world to make its contents public. The correspondence, therefore, was evidently made public by the President, or with his consent. The only judicial appointments made by the President in July were those of James D. Hayes, of Wisconsin, and Edward D. Dawne, of Oregon, to be United States Judge for Alaska. As Wisconsin has a representative in the Cabinet, one who is a lawyer and personally acquainted with the members of the legal profession in that State, it would be absurd to believe that Hayes is the man referred to in the correspondence. The only judicial appointment made in June was William B. Fleming, a prominent and well-known lawyer of Kentucky, to be Associate Justice of New Mexico. As the publication purports to emanate from Cincinnati, so near the home of Fleming, it is perhaps natural that his friends should feel unusual curiosity and exhibit some indignation upon what might be regarded as a reflection upon him, and yet nobody who knows anything of Judge Fleming's standing, personally and professionally, in Kentucky, ought to suppose for a moment that he was the subject of the correspondence. For aught that is known to the public, Judge Dawne may stand as well professionally and personally in Oregon as Fleming does in Kentucky. But if the statements refer to him, and the President believes them to be true, it is difficult to understand why he says that the confession is too late to be of immediate service. The appointment of judicial officers, like that of any other civil officer commissioned by the President, is incomplete until confirmed by the Senate. The President may withdraw such an appointment, even if it is sent to the Senate, and it is believed he may recall a commission issued during the vacation of the Senate. Besides the judicial appointments above mentioned, the President has made the following: H. Brinker, of Missouri, Associate Justice of New Mexico; Orlando W. Powers, of Michigan, Associate Justice of Utah; W. B. McConnell, Associate Justice of Dakota; W. A. Vincent, Chief Justice of New Mexico.

The total cut of lumber in the north-western district, which includes Western Wisconsin and the whole upper Mississippi region, was 2,534,298,000 feet in 1884, an increase of 447,811,000 feet over 1883. There were 1,059,354,000 shingles and 630,090,000 laths, an increase of 202,994,000 shingles and 85,799,000 laths.

A very clever invention just brought out has been shown a New York manager. By simply turning the handle of a machine a sound is produced resembling the clapping of a number of hands. The applause, by means of a large funnel, is projected into the front of the house. It is a French production.

The United States Treasury Department yesterday purchased 245,000 ounces of silver for delivery at the Philadelphia mint for coinage into standard dollars.

The President and the Public Domain.

The following proclamation by the President was issued Monday:

WHEREAS, Public policy demands that the public domain shall be reserved for the occupancy of actual settlers in good faith, and that our people, who seek homes upon such domain, shall in no wise be prevented by any wrongful interference, from safe and free entry thereon, to which they may be entitled; and, whereas, to secure and maintain this beneficent policy, a statute was passed by the Congress of the United States, on the 25th day of February, in the year 1885, which declared to be unlawful any inclosures of any public lands in any State or Territory, to any of which land included within said inclosure, the person, part, association or corporation making or controlling such inclosures had no claim or color to the title, made or acquired, in good faith, or an asserted right thereto by, or under a claim made in good faith, with a view to entry thereof at the proper land office, and which statute also prohibits any person by force, threats, intimidation, or by any fencing, inclosure, or other unlawful means, from preventing or obstructing any person from peaceably entering upon or establishing a settlement or residence on any tract of public land, subject to settlement or entry under the public land laws of the United States, and from preventing or obstructing free passage and transit over or through public lands; and, whereas, it is by the fifth section of said Act provided as follows: That "the President is hereby authorized to take such means as shall be necessary to remove and destroy any unlawful inclosure of any of said lands, and to employ such civil or military force as may be necessary for that purpose;" and, whereas, it has been brought to my knowledge that unlawful inclosures, and such as are prohibited by the terms of the aforesaid statute, exist upon the public domain, and that actual legal settlement thereon is prevented and obstructed by such inclosures, and by force, threats and intimidation—

Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby order and direct that any and every unlawful inclosure of public lands maintained by any person, association or corporation be immediately removed, and I hereby forbid any person, association or corporation from preventing or obstructing, by means of such inclosures, or by force, threats or intimidation, any person entitled thereto from peaceably entering upon and establishing settlement or residence on any part of such public land which is subject to entry and settlement under the laws of the United States; and I command and require each and every officer of the United States, upon whom the duty is legally devolved, to cause this order to be obeyed, and all provisions of the Act of Congress herein mentioned to be faithfully enforced.

GROVER CLEVELAND, President.

Toombs' Tribute.

In an interview Monday, General Toombs said: "Grant was the greatest soldier produced by the war. Lee was a very good engineer, a man of fine family, but no man to head an army. Grant was simple minded and honest, and had no more animosity toward the South than the North. Being a West Point graduate it was a profession with him. Jeff Davis was a wrong man for the Confederate Presidency. It should have been Albert Sidney Johnston or Joseph E. Johnston. The South was throttled by Davis' West Point ideas."

The Agricultural Outlook.

The Agricultural Bureau reports that the corn crop has made immense improvement and indications are that the yield will be from 26 to 27 bushels per acre. There has been an average decline of five points in spring wheat, which indicates a reduction of 6,000,000 bushels from the expectation on July 1st. No reports concerning threshing of winter wheat are received, except in the South. In Texas the outcome is greater than was expected, and higher rates of the yield are reported.

Virginia Politics.

The New York Tribune's Richmond special says: Signs are multiplying that the Bourbons will sacrifice Fitzhugh Lee and the remainder of the State ticket to secure a majority in the Legislature and defeat the election of a Republican as Mahone's successor in the United States Senate. Eighteen counties which gave Cleveland a total majority of only 1,000 are confidently expected to go Republican this Fall.

Many apple trees in Kansas are said to have borne three crops of apples during the past year.

"A dainty dish of fish," served at a club dinner, consisted of Swedish snails served on a base of skate fish.

A H. Stephen's estate will "clean up" about $10,000, and this will go to the children of his brother, Linton Stephens.

It is said that a Hagerstown, Md., blacksmith, with the assistance of two apprentices, roughed and shod 148 horses in ten hours.

An ex-pitcher of the Mutual Club of Jackson, Mich., away back in the fifties, is now a Judge of the Supreme Court in that State.

Recently a bet was made and won that the President of Harvard College could not name four Vice Presidents of the United States inside of three minutes. It took him seven to name Wheeler and Colfax.

New York City is said to contain 5,000 disciples of the hot water cure who drink water almost boiling hot every morning before breakfast. They denounce the drinking of cold water at any time of day.

Plaster of Paris is now all the go for the gout. Lord Greville's recovery from a severe attack is said to have been considerably accelerated for its use. The limb is incased in it in a new and efficacious way.

Shipping Coin by Mail.

An appropriation of $100,000 was made at the last session of Congress for the transportation of about $40,000,000 in gold coin from the sub-treasury in San Francisco to the sub-treasury at New York. Owing to the high rates asked by the express companies, the Secretary of the Treasury decided to transfer the coin by registered mail. So about $10,000,000 have been transported in this way. The money was mailed in $100,000 packages. In view, however, of the publicity which has been given to the method of transportation, it has been deemed best to suspend further shipments for the present.

Methodists and Roller Skating.

The Methodists now include roller skating with dancing, billiards and theater-going as "damnable dissipation." We do not wonder at it. And yet there is nothing in any of these that is in itself bad. It is the way in which they are conducted. Among decent people, and in a proper way, each of them might be an agency for good; a bad man among good people is apt to be made better, and bad society has just the other effect on good men. The promiscuous mobs that are brought together at our many rinks make them undesirable places for any young person who is not already so bad as to be beyond danger of further degradation. It would be the same with dancing, or billiards, or theater-going, if conducted in a similar way. In our climate, we have not the excuse which, in the East, makes skating contribute to health—where it is about the only alternative to remaining confined in a close and overheated house. With us it is a plant of unnatural growth.—S. F. Post.

The orange-growers of South Florida are fertilizing and cultivating their groves, preparing the tree to receive its spring growth and its next crop of fruit. In other sections of the State groves are reported to be presenting a remarkably healthy and vigorous appearance, and unless severe weather sets in, the orange crop of 1885 will be very large, it is predicted.

BREVITIES.

Judge Rising is rusticated at Tallac. This is splendid weather for bathing in the river.

Theo. Winters was down from Washoe yesterday.

The last of the Knights will leave for home this morning.

W. D. Hardin was down from Steamboat Valley yesterday.

The August moon falls on the 25th, at 25 minutes after midnight.

The funeral of little Chester Fulton took place yesterday and was largely attended.

Officer Brunnick was so hard-hearted yesterday as to chuck that distinguished citizen, James Duxbury, into the calaboose for being disgustingly drunk.

E. F. Belcher Esq., representing the land department of the Central Pacific railroad, came up from San Francisco yesterday morning to attend the funeral of little Chester Fulton.

Mrs. Howard's horse ran away yesterday while she was driving home from town, and she was thrown out of the buggy, but not injured. The buggy was smashed to pieces, and the horse badly injured.

Atwell Trousdale says ranchers along the Humboldt are nearly through haying. He has put up 300 tons, which is of excellent quality, though the quantity was not as great as last season.

Dr. Southworth, the Carson dentist, proposes visiting Reno once a month, and comes recommended by some of the leading residents of the Capital, including Governor Adams, D. A. Bender, H. M. Yerington, D. L. Bliss, etc. He can be found for the balance of this week at the Lake House.

The Miners' Unions of Storey county have decided to hold their annual picnic in the early part of September. It has not been determined as yet whether the picnic will be at Steamboat Springs or Carson. The majority of the miners favor Steamboat, however, and it will therefore probably be selected.

Harvesting is pretty well along in Paradise Valley, and though the grain is of excellent quality, the quantity is not one-half what it was last year. The acreage is much less than a year ago, as well as the yield to the acre. At Lovelock, John Barkersays, farmers have commenced harvesting, and all, without exception, have good crops.

A Dam Suit.

Suit has been commenced at Dayton by Italian gardeners against C. C. Stevenson, of the Rock Point mill, just below town, on charge of having raised the dam of the mill, causing the river to back up and overflow their garden ground, which is the old Barrett ranch, opposite Dayton, last May, ruining their crops for the time. Hon. W. E. F. Deal is counsel for plaintiff and Stone and Woodburn for the defense. The case is being tried before Judge M. A. Murphy, and is likely to continue for the next day or two.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of applicants for teachers' certificates, will take place next Tuesday, August 18, 1885, at the Grammar School building, opening at 9 o'clock A. M. It is earnestly desired that all applicants for this year will present themselves. N. W. Rorr, Co. Supt.

MONTANA COMING TO THE FRONT.—Montana's output of gold, silver and copper this year will reach $30,000,000—much the largest figure ever attained and Montana thinks herself on the eve of a remarkable mining development, which will rival in magnitude that of Colorado in the "seventies" and be less speculative and more enduring.

THE NEW POSTAL CARDS.

A Design at Last Agreed Upon, and Soon to be Issued.

The approved design for the new postal cards, as presented to Postmaster General Vilas by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, will be sent to the contractors in a few days, and it will not be long before supplies of the new cards will be issued to Postoffices. None of the designs first submitted by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing have been adopted, but a new one, with the designs of the card which first met approval, and a new stamp has been substituted. The design may be criticised as a trifle too heavy, but it is a vast improvement on the ugly one now in use. The line under the subscription of the card, which reads, "Nothing but the address can be placed on this side," has been changed to read, "Nothing but the address to be on this side," Mr. Vilas suggesting that the caution was not a prohibitory one. The stamp now in use is square and the design is a female head, with faces at the right and left connected above and below by scrolls in which appear "U. S. Postage," and "One Cent." This is replaced by a head of Jefferson in an oval, with a symbolical wreath partially surrounding it, tied with a band, upon which appear the words "One Cent." The printing is to be done in brown ink. The contract called for the first supply of the new cards on July 1, but the delay in the adoption of the design has been one reason for the failure to issue them earlier. The Department, in the meantime, has been working off the supply of the old cards, and it is regarded as fortunate that the new ones were not ready sooner, as the preference for them might have led to the accumulation of the old cards if the new ones could have been issued promptly. As it is the stock on hand is likely to run very low before the new cards are delivered.

THE JONES LEASE.

Jim Rule's Suit for a Bite of the Pie—Opinions Here as to Its Merits—Etc.

(Virginia Chronicle, Aug. 8.)

A press dispatch from San Francisco last night says:

"James G. Rule has sued Senator John P. Jones to obtain an accounting. Plaintiff sets forth that in 1883 he was an expert miner and knew of the existence of rich bodies of ore in the Consolidated Virginia mine, in Storey county, Nevada. He made a contract with Jones, and in November, 1883, plaintiff made a contract with the Con. Virginia Company to explore and mine and mill ores which should be extracted by him. He was to return 30 per cent. of the assayed value, less wastage, and receive $9 per ton for milling. Plaintiff and defendant extracted large bodies of ore. He avers that defendant has realized as net profit from such mining, milling, etc., $195,000, of which plaintiff is entitled to one-half, and he now sues to recover the sum of $97,500."

WHAT IS SAID HERE.

The above telegram has been the topic of conversation among mining men on the Comstock to-day. Three of the most prominent were interviewed by the Chronicle reporter this morning. One of these—a man who ought to know the facts of the case—said that, as far as he knew, Mr. Rule had never made a contract of any kind with Senator Jones, but was merely hired to act as superintendent or foreman of the ground worked under the Jones lease, and he always supposed that Rule was to receive therefor the usual pay of a foreman. If a contract such as is set forth in the complaint of Mr. Rule existed, he said he certainly would have been cognizant of the fact. Another well informed mining man did not believe that Mr. Rule had any contract with Jones. He knew, in fact, that Rule was working for a foreman's salary, as the latter had told him so, and had often complained to intimate friends that the amount he was receiving was scarcely sufficient to support his family, but he "expected that Jones would raise his pay when they got to taking out better ore."

POPULATION OF IRELAND.—The Registrar-General's returns show the present population of Ireland to be about 4,924,343. In 1821 there were 6,801,000 souls in Ireland; in 1833, 7,767,000; in 1841, 8,109,000, and in 1846 nearly 9,000,000. This was the crisis. The potato rot came in 1846, and the Irish people began to leave their country in swarms—and they have kept up the movement ever since.

Cleveland, Hendricks and Reform are the names that a proud Virginia father has given to his triplet sons.

Camping Out.

A New York paper says: Doubtless there are among our readers not a few hard-working business men and weary clerks who are looking with eager hopes to the August vacation that is yet to come. To such we beg to say that they cannot put their fortnight or month of rest to a better use than in camping out.

Camping out may really be said to be one of the few delightful things that has not gone out. The very word suggests even to the least enterprising and prosaic, a touch of that romance which now seems confined to fairy tale existence. It is the one amusement left us where the spirit of adventure still finds play. What party of campers but come home with wonderful tales? Were there ever such disasters, such surprises, such countless adventures? Were there ever such scouts as their scouts, such guides as those attached to their particular party? As for the stories and the dinners, and the jokes it is safe to say a two weeks' camping excursion will supply the campers for several years with a reservoir of good things.

But the uses and delights of camping out are not alone to be counted as admirable because of the good times it is sure to bring. Laughter and fun are much, but health is even more. And that health waits and attends and remains with those who walk the woods, fish the wild streams, cook their own food, wash their own dishes, make their own fires, and then lie down on their odorous beds of pine to sleep the sleep of the deliciously tired, needs no proving in these days of the Adirondack craze. A month of such a life means a year of harvested gains. The whole man is built up. The muscles are toughened, the tissues nourished, the blood enriched by those long tramping marches, the breathing of that glorious air, the living of that wild, free, open life. But there are other gains quite as invaluable though perhaps less palpable at first.

This life in the woods, this nearness to nature; the waking at the first blush of the rose-tinted dawn; the long, deep, breathless silence of the night, with no sound but the breathing of the wind, or the wild sighing of the sea; the meeting with the rough, rugged mountaineers, and all the other features of that life of naturalness and beauty—all this helps the town-bred merchant to learn more of nature, and of human nature, than all his college text-books. Certain words bear a different meaning now. He has learned something of the uses of solitude. He has learned still more of the healing powers of nature. The scale of his pleasures has gained one more note, perhaps the one which of all others will bring out the purest, sweetest, deepest music.

August presents a full chapter of planetary incidents. There is an unusual stir among the members of the sun's family of worlds. The fairest of the stars pays her respects to her august brother Jupiter, to the swift-footed Mercury, and to the slow moving Uranus, while she fills out her portion of planetary work by a close conjunction with Beta Virginis. The prince of planets pays his court twice to the smallest of his brethren, who at least can outrun him in the race if he can do nothing else. The ring-girdled planet and the god of war meet and change places on the celestial road, and both planets pay their respects to the small star Mu Geminorum, at nearly the same time, the approach in Saturn's case being an appulse, for 4' of arc is in celestial mathematics a small space to intervene between two visible heavenly bodies. As the month passes, the light of Jupiter grows dim and fades away, Venus slowly advances to easy visibility and will soon put on her queenly apparel. Saturn is superb with his wide open rings and the beaming light he borrows from a nearer approach to the sun, while the day of Martian importance nears the dawn.

A blacksmith of Leesville, Ohio, has made a clock, principally of steel, with blacksmith's tools. It is seven feet high, gives the time in eleven cities, strikes the hours and quarters, and is exhibited in a glass case where the movements can be seen.
